

They are suitable for service stations and garages, for checking and re-establishing the tyre pressure through the inflating valve and discharge with lever in the version with automatic charge, with the inflating gun in the version with manual charge.

